Arthur Stace heard John Ridley proclaim that he wished he could shout the word “ETERNITY” throughout the streets of Sydney. Arthur’s response was to buy chalk and spent the next 15-years writing Eternity on the footpaths of Sydney as well as occasions in Newcastle and Wollongong.

It is interesting that this was celebrated for the 2000 New Years Eave Sydney harbour bridge lighting display and seen around the world. It's interesting because it was the City of Sydney Council who attempted to prosecute whomever was defacing the Sydney footpaths with the Eternity script, yet now hold copywrite for that script.

Arthur's actions was triggered by the yearning he had for the people of Sydney to comprehend what Eternity was all about. He remained anonymous for most of the years and when the Police actually caught him, he convinced them that his actions were God's and they actually protected him from Council prosecution.

Eternity

What does the Holy Bible say about it?

Ecclesiastes 3:11 – we have the statement that God provided an awareness for humans of Eternity.

John 3:36 – Jesus makes the declaration that those who follow his teachings shall be in the place of delight for all Eternity, but those who reject him shall experience the Wrath of God.

We need to check who Jesus was and what Authority should be placed upon his words.
So who is this Jesus?

Jesus Christ

- He was always God
- He is described as the “word” and by the “word” all things were made and were created.
- So the essence of the one true God was manifested and became the man Jesus Christ, for the purpose of reconciliation by his redemption of those who repent and accept Him as Redeemer.
- As John 14:6 states “He is the (only) way through which we can enjoy fellowship with God.

Jesus wasn't a man who became God, but God who became Man and is God!

So what will

Eternity
by Ian Childs

for us look like?

For those who CHOOSE Jesus Christ as Saviour

- the experience of unimaginable delight.
- we shall (and have reason to be) eternally grateful.
- intimate relationship and fellowship with our complete God, such as that experienced by Adam & Eve in their early occupancy of the Garden of Eden.

So what will

for us look like?

For those who REJECT Jesus Christ as Saviour

- they experience eternal regret.
- they shall have their eternity excluded from all that is good and of delight.
- Their eternity will not be in fellowship with any others.

Forget the idea that Hell will be a fun place because all your mates will be there.

So where will you spend your

Eternity

Choose wisely – it's forever!
